

I heard that the FCC plans to 'ease up' on enforcing decency standards for radio and television. Announced on April 1st, I certainly hope this is an April Fool's joke, though not a very funny one. If anything we need to get tougher in requiring that programs be family-friendly, and cut down the violence, profanity, nudity and other undesirable characteristics.